WELCOME NEW/ RETURNING

It has been humbling to have served as your President. Our Chapter is highly respected and recognized on a National level in many areas. We have been leaders in ASID for decades and hopefully will continue that tradition.

We worked closely together for the past three years to restore successful policies, procedures and protocols. The structuring has provided the ability to focus on expanding our financial stability and a growth in membership.

ASID is the leading organization in our industry, yet the value of our services and even our membership in the organization are not given the recognition it deserves. The value of belonging to ASID is extremely important. Programs, educational seminars and mentoring activities connected members and increased public awareness of our impact on the human experience. To ensure the long term viability of ASID AZ North, this value has to be emphasized.

Every member can help "Elevate the Society" by finding a way to be involved in the work that we do. We need all members to serve on committees, to share ideas, and to volunteer for community service projects. Being involved is energizing and rewarding! Students are an asset and are a boost to our organization. ASID need practitioners willing to establish relationships that will encourage their long term interest in interior design. A group of our Past-Presidents connected students and practitioners to prepare students for the NCIDQ and work in the industry. This exceeds Real World Design Week, and will be an ongoing program that values high levels of professionalism and achievement in interior design.

I have to acknowledge the role and strength of Industry Partner members. ASID AZ North has tremendous support from our IPs and we thank you for your continuous participation in Chapter activities. This important relationship was strengthened this year as we connected IPs and Practitioners in meaningful ways. IPs found broader exposure to the membership and the membership learned about the benefits of working with our IPs.

Keith Stanton, Allied ASID is your incoming President of ASID AZ North. Please communicate your thoughts and keep us aware of how we are doing. Expanded communications will make this easier through email and Facebook. Don't forget to "Elevate the Society" every chance you get.

PHOENIX HOME & GARDEN EDITOR'S LETTER

In a city named for a mythological bird that is reborn from the ashes of its predecessor, it is fitting to embrace transformations. And, that's exactly what the October issue of Phoenix Home & Garden does. With 32 before-and-after images of four fabulous remodeled homes, gardens and outdoor living spaces, we show readers real-life, down-to-the-studs examples of ho-hum spaces that are turned into stunning ones. Through interviews with design professionals and homeowners, we provide valuable insight to what remodeling projects actually take to conceive, execute and complete. The work of Tucson interior
